1. The king's edict granted the Jews in all Israel the right to assemble and protect themselves; to destroy, kill and annihilate the armed men of any nationality or province who might attack them and their women and children, and to plunder the property of their enemies. -----( )
2. In every province and in every city to which the edict of the king came, there was joy and gladness among the Jews, with feasting and celebrating. And many people of other nationalities became Jews because fear of the Jews had seized them.----- ( )
3. And all the nobles of the provinces, the satraps, the governors and the king's administrators hurt the Jews, because fear of Mordecai had seized them. ----- ( )
4. Meanwhile, the remainder of the Jews who were in the king's provinces also assembled to protect themselves and get relief from their enemies. They killed seventy-five thousand of them but did not lay their hands on the plunder. ----- ( )

5. That is why rural Jews – those living in villages – observe the fourteenth of the month of Adar as a day of joy and feasting, a day for grabbing presents from to each other.----- ( )
6. as the time when the Jews got relief from their enemies, and as the month when their sorrow was turned into joy and their mourning into a day of celebration. He wrote to them to observe the days as days of feasting and joy and giving presents of food to one another and gifts to the poor.----- ( )
7. These days should be remembered and observed in every generation by every family, and in every province and in every city. And these days of Purim should never ever to be celebrated by the Jews – nor should the memory of these days die out among their descendants.----- ( )
8. King Xerxes imposed tribute throughout the empire, to its distant shores.----- ( )
9. And all his acts of power and might, together with a full account of the greatness of Mordecai, whom the king had demoted, are they not written in the book of the annals of the kings of Media and Persia?----- ( )
10. Mordecai the Jew was second in rank to King Xerxes, pre-eminent among the Jews, and held in high esteem by his many fellow Jews, because he worked for the good of his people and spoke up for the welfare of all the Jews.----- ( )
